COMPLAINTS BETTER THAN GAS GOV-

The gas charts prepared for The Times by the government official who found complaints better than gas governors to reduce gas hills, are creating a sensation, It has niways been charged that gas compeny officials read gas meters with magnifying glasses, but no one believed them so Thoroughly unscrupulous as to make out gas hills without rending the meters

But it would seem so, according to the statement of this government official, can fol watching of the meters and a trial of gas governors made no difference with his tulin. For two years he vanily endeavored to ascertain why they were so arge, and one day in desperation be made a vigorous complaint, and succeeded In securing a reduction without the necessity of further economy, or the trouble of obtaining a rebate.

The gas ball of this gentleman from November to February, inclusive, 1889-1890, a four months' period, was $280. For the same number of burners used the same length of time, with gas at the same price, his gas ball from November to Februsry, inclusive, 1890-1891, was only $188, a reduction of $92. For a period of four mouths, under exactly the same conditions, from November to February, 1891-1892, he again kept the bill down to $128, showing that his complaints saved the government about $600 for the tweety seven mostis following November, 1889, Carefully look over his chart, and while making up your mind to follow his exampie, don't forget to send in your coupons for chepper gas.

EXCESSIVE WATER RENTS.

The heavy burdens placed upon house bolders in The District of Columbia by the exaction of excessive water rents are both unfair and contrary to good public policy They are unfair because the householders -tenants, rather than property ownersshould not be made to suffer for the costly blunder of the Lydecker tunnel; and it is costly to good public policy to do anything that restricts cleanliness.

"Free as air and water" is a trite saving. eme municipalities have made it a truisn so far as they are concerned, by abolish ine all water rents and defraving the cost of maintaining and repairing their water systems from the general tax fund. There is no good reason why an equally liberal and common sense policy should not be pursued here in the District, the more as there is an annual surplus of revenue from taxes considerably larger than the amount received from water rents.

The burden falls most heavily upon those of limited incomes. The man who owns properly and lets it does not care how high the water rent is, for his tenant pays whether he pays this rent. But the man who by persevering industry has managed to get himself a little home, or the other with small are most seriously affected.

The contention is not made just now that all water rents should be abolished. not be doubted. But water rents in the District ought to be lowered, and that con eiderably and promptly.

UNCLE SAM AND "THE TIMES."

Our cartoon this morning represents Uncle Sam pointing to The Times in evident. pride for the fearless manner in which it has taken held of public questions. The rights of a community are greater in the estimation of an upright newspaper than the interests of individuals or corporations, and has endeavowed to carry out this policy.

There are times when it seems harsh to publish the truth concerning public men, erty and if censurable they should be criticised and made subjects of warning. The mission of a newspaper is touplift and guide its renders and not to keep them in the clark on affairs that affect social, moral and political questions. Nor should a newspaper allow itself to be subsidized by free gas, electric lights, railroad passes or anything that prohibits on aggressive defense of public interests. Relief from extertionate prices and burdemone conditions can only be obtained by arousing public sentiment, and when newssuspers are muzzled by corporations the way fed action must becessarily be blocked. The Times is under obligations to no one.

It owes fealty to neither party or sect. It belongs to the people so far as its bestefforts are concerned, and it cannot be otherwise influenced.

WOMEN SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

The appointment of two women on th District board of school trustees is in keeping with the progress of civilization. In every community where this experimen has been tried beneficial results have followed, and it is a matter for congratulation that the women of Washington have been recognized among the pioneers in this new field of woman labor.

The time has gone by when man car usurp and hold every position of public trust. Women are gradually winning their way into different business callings, and it must be expected that they will also find places in public office. As school trustees women seem es pecially fitted. Their experience as teachers, their superior knowledge of the wants of children, and their kindlies sympathies with the young of both sexes, render hem more capable of acting as advisers than the average business man. The Times congratulates the new trustees and predicts for them a successful term of Several eastern newspapers are advising against the payment of the income tax. Until declared differently by the Supreme Court the income tax is as competent as any other law, and the person who advises differently is a conspirator and deserves to be punished accordingly. These same papers make a great howl when a labor leader denounces an oppressive measure, and usually declare him an anarchist. What can be said of them, when who found economy in the use of gas, a they deliberately claim the income tax is unjust and advise taxpayers to ignore it?

Another "Times" Contest Suggested. Editor Times Now the contest on the "boarding-house question" is practically closed. Many interesting letters have been mibmitted and published, and no doubt we have learned something.

But, Mr. Editor, may I not suggest that there is another question much more im-fortant than the "boarding-housequestion."
Men willing to work can not find the oppor-tunity, and men who do work can not obtain a fair equivalent for that work, and, I believe, it is generally conceded that some ailment affects the body politic. Who can properly diagnose the case, and who can suggest a proper remedy? These are both very important questions. While a lettervery important questions. The elevator, however, owing to the leaky valve, had gradually ascended until it was nearly on a level with the second floor.

The physician stepped through the door, believing the elevator to be in place, and before the elevator boy, who was standing several yards away, could speak to Br. Busey, he fell headlong to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of about twelvefeet. After striking the large iron wheel at the bottom, Dr. Busey rebounded and struck heavily on the concrete flooring.

Drs. W. W. Johnston, S. S. Adams, John Van Rensselaer, and C. E. Hagner were quickly summoned. They found Dr. Busey soffering intensely and had him removed to his home, No. 901 Skiteenth street northwest, in the Garfield Hospital ambulance. ### NO WARRANTS YET ISSUED

Mr. Thomas Sustains Mr. Pugh in Refusing to Grant Them.

LAWYER SHOEMAKER'S VIEWS

He Insists That the Excise Board Has Been Exercising More Discretion than the Law Allows-No Instructions Given Him So Far to Institute Mandamus Proceedings, but These May Be Resorted To Hereafter.

deven cases of saloon keepers charged by the Anti-saloon League with selling liquors without a license, nor has the leavue ustituted mandamus proceedings to compel the assistant alterney for the District to issue them, so far.

Mr. Albert E. Shoemaker, attorney for the lengue, called on Attorney for the District Thomas yesterday morning and presented his construction of the license laws referring to the cases in question to him. Mr. Thomas then appointed 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a consultation with Mr. Shoe maker and Assistant Attorney for the District Pugh. Mr. Roger Williams, a clerk of the excise board, was also present.

After some discussion, Mr. Thomas sustained Mr. Pugh's action in refusing to issue the informations. Mr. Shoemaker, it is understood, imputed to the two District officials, a desire to keep the cases from being tried, knowing that the proceedings of the excise board were irregular and that a trial would result in conviction.

EXTENSION MERELY A RUSE. Mr. Shoemaker stated last night that it many cases the excise board have rejected applications for license, and after issning the forty-eight-hour closing notice, as required by law, have granted an extensio of time, ostensibly for the purpose of selling out the stock, for definite or indefinite periods. These cases, he said, had ap-parently been finally and absolutely rejected by the board, and there was no inte the part of the board to reconsider their

the extension of time to sell out their stock, after pleading that it would be a great hardship and injustice to compet them to close out at once, and in such cases they were simply selling liquors by permission of the board, and are without a license as required by law. These dealers are buying fresh stock right along, just as they always did, and the plea for the extension of time is merely a ruse.

"Another class of cases which Mr. Thomas seems to think we can make more out of than those already referred to, are those whose applications have been rejected, to take effect at some future date," said Mr. Shoemaker. "For instance, an application of the first of March to Mr. Shoemaker. "For instance, an appli-cation is rejected on the first of March, to take effect on the 31st of April.

CAN EXTEND INDEFINITELY "If the board can legally extend the time for a mouth or two months, there is appar ently nothing to prevent them from grant ing an extension until October 31st, 1895. thus allowing the dealers to sell liquor an entire year without license.

"Section 17 of the excise laws of the District says that all applicants who have had a license during the previous year shall apply for a renewal of such license on or before the first day of November of each license year, and shall be permitted to continue business until such license shall be tinne business until such liceuse shall be granted or refused by the Excise Board continued Mr. Shoemaker And yet, continued Mr. Shoemaker, "in spite of that clause these men have been allowed to go on selling liquors after the rejection of their license, under an ex-tension of time granted by the Board. "We think," said Mr. Shoemaker, "that the Excise Board has been exercising mon discretion than the law allows."

Referring to mandamus proceeding
Shoemaker said that he had not be structed by the League as yet in that re-gard, but thought it possible that if the attorneys for the District persist in their refusal to issue the warrants, they would go at the matter in that way.
